What size container houses are available in Spain?

These container houses, which are the most preferred in Spain in general, have a great demand for one of two sizes: 230 x 600 - 14 m² or 300 x 700 - 21 m². Container houses are preferred by families. There is no limit to the houses you can use with all this area.

Can you build your own container home in Tenerife?

There's a famous YouTube channel called Fabrica Tu Sueño (Build Your Dream) created by a young Spaniard who has successfully built his own container home from scratch in Tenerife. Most of his videos are subtitled in English, so it will no doubt come in handy for anyone else embarking on the same 'build your own tiny home' mission in Spain.

What are container houses made of?

Generally, container houses are made of highly insulated polyurethane panels and galvanized steel. This modular component requires very little external maintenance for the homeowner, allowing container homes to stay in good condition for a very long time. It is easy to move because it is portable.
